A Worthy Charity.

The concert to be given Friday evening for the benefit of the Home for the Friendless will doubtless be a success, as tickets are selling freely. In his sermon at the Cathedral on Sunday, Rt. Rev. Bishop Kain spoke very highly of the institution, and recommended it to the congregation as being worthy of aid, and encouraged the members to lend all the assistance possible to the Home for the Friendless.

Transfers Recorded.

Clerk Hook yesterday admitted to record two deeds of trust and transfers of real estate, as follows:

November 23, by John H. Hobbs and wife to Henry Reiter, for $1,700, lots 13 and 14 in square 20, on the West Side of Woods street, South of Forty-Second street.

November 23, by Tim O'Leary and wife, to Mary Dentz, for $125, lot 3 and part of lot 2, in Division A, of Henderson's sub-division of part of the Ellen Forsyth tract, in North Wheeling.

Asks for an Extension.

At last night's meeting of the Main street bridge commission, Mr. D. M. Cary, of the firm of Paige, Cary & Co., presented a request for an extension of time in building the bridge. Mr. Cary stated that he thought it was proper to go about the matter in the usual way, but that he didn't care whether the city granted him an extension or not. City Solicitor Riley not being present, no decision was arrived at, and the settlement of the question was deferred until the solicitor's return to the city.

"Our Country Cousin."

With a genuine steamboat and electric true to life railroad scene, also a threshing machine scene. "Our Country Cousin" should certainly be interesting. One can imagine what scenery and baggage the play has when it takes no less than two cars to carry it through the country. Mr. Frank Jones (known as St. Perkins) returns again, and will amuse and delight theatre goers at the Grand Opera House two nights this week, Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28, with Saturday matinee. There are enough mechanical effects and stage novelties in "Our Country Cousin" to fill two plays.

Rentz-Santley Novelty Company.

The appearance of the famous Rentz-Santley company at the Grand on Thursday, November 26, opening with a grand Thanksgiving matinee at 2 p. m., promises to draw two of the largest audiences of the season. Seats were placed on sale yesterday for both the afternoon and evening performances, and they are going off with such rapidity as to insure only standing room at both performances. Those who want to make sure of even getting into the Grand on this occasion should secure their seats at Genther's without delay.

TO AID "LAND BILL" ALLEN.

Indications that Wheeling Will Contribute Generously to His Relief.

Last night a contribution of $3 85 was left at the INTELLIGENCER office to add to the fund for the relief of "Land Bill" Allen, the author of the national homestead law, who, after spending fifty years of his life and a fortune in a noble cause, has been left to die without friends and money in the Franklin county, Ohio, poor house. This latest contribution comes from the employees of M. Marsh & Son's cigar factory, of this city, and will do its part toward making the brave old man happy during the short time he has yet to live.

Following the recommendation of the Ohio Valley Trades Assembly, the employees of various industrial establishments and members of the local unions will contribute to this fund, and all money left in care of the INTELLIGENCER will be duly credited and properly applied. The articles recently published in the INTELLIGENCER calling attention to the ungrateful treatment of the aged philanthropist, to whom the wage workers of America owe so much, have had the effect of creating considerable public interest in the matter, and many plans for the relief of Mr. Allen are talked of. It is hoped that the amounts already contributed will form the nucleus of a handsome sum that will go from Wheeling.

The Wheeling Building Association is still open for new members. Meets Saturday evenings at office of Franklin Insurance Company, No. 34 Twelfth street.

DAMAGE BY THE WINDS.

The Joseph Bell Stove Foundry is Partly Unroofed.

TWO NEW BUILDINGS ARE INJURED

At Moundsville, and two Men Slightly Injured—Some Delay but not Very Serious Loss Results—The Severe Storm Experienced here for a long Time.

The severest storm that has visited this section of the country for a pretty long time occurred yesterday forenoon, and while no damage worth speaking of was done in the main part of this city, this was doubtless due solely to the shelter from the gale afforded by the hills which hem it in. North and south the wind was not only most severe, but had more disastrous results.

The rain was of that heavy, dashing kind which always brings down from the hillsides a big deposit of yellow mud, and overflows the sewer traps, leaving little lakes of water at each street intersection, and when this recedes, ridges of mud and debris like miniature sand-bars.

SKYLIGHT BLOWN OFF.

The only grave damage done in town was to the roof and wall of the Joseph Bell stove foundry in North Wheeling. The wind lifted the huge skylight from the roof and sent it whirling over toward Main street. In its flight it struck that portion of the brick wall fronting on Main street, which extends up above the roof, and a large section of it was demolished and scattered in the form of debris over a considerable section of the vicinity. The big skylight then landed in the middle of Main street, right on the street car track, blocking it for quite awhile. The worst result, however, was the drenching of the things in the foundry with the water which the big hole let in. The water fairly poured in on the stoves. The money damage will not be very great.

A CARRIAGE FACTORY DEMOLISHED.

The wind storm at Moundsville yesterday morning was the hardest experienced there for a number of years. The Ganier carriage works was completely wrecked, the building, which was a two-story frame 24 by 120 feet, being leveled to the ground. The upper story was lifted bodily and set off on the east side of the foundation.

N. Ganier, J. L. Ganier, Thomas Seckman, Frank Darrah and Antony Johnson were up stairs when the building gave way. N. Ganier had his back sprained and his brother, J. L. Ganier, was hurt in the side and had his elbow badly sprained. The other men were more or less bruised, but no one was seriously hurt.

Mr. Ganier was seen last evening, and places his immediate damage at from $1,000 to $1,200. The building was nearly completed, and he had expected to be soon turning out carriages. His loss of time, he says, will be considerable.

FESTORIA GLASS WORKS DAMAGED.

The west gable end of the Festoria Glass Works was blown in and the entire north side of the tin roof, about sixty square feet in all, blown off. The building is otherwise but slightly injured.

The superintendent estimates the damage to the building at $1,600. The company was to move into the works the first of December. No serious damage was done anywhere else in Moundsville.

The damage to the glass factory, President Martin said last night, can be remedied in a week or so. Nobody was hurt in it, though several gentlemen had just left a position in which they had remained they might have been killed, and could not possibly have escaped injury.

THE WEATHER IN GENERAL.

The storm was foretold by the barometer. It went down lower yesterday than it has been for a long time. From 29.7 Sunday night it fell to 28.7 yesterday morning. The rainfall was also about as great as it ever is in this locality, the fall in the whole day being 1.02 inch. The strong wind yesterday morning tore the government's blue owl weather signal flag, displayed by Mr. Schnepf, and he had to take it in to prevent its being blown away piece meal.

After the snow and cold weather of the afternoon it became somewhat warmer, and the snow gave way again to rain. The thermometer was down to 37 about dark, but by 9 o'clock had again risen to 42.

The rain and snow made travel on the street very unpleasant, and nobody was out who could help it. Altogether it was a memorable day, for its various kinds of inclemencies, and everybody will be glad if they do not see its like again for another year.
